WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Kirkley Struck By I. & L. Traction Car Near Speeds.

Mrs. Eliza Kirkley, aged about 60 years, was killed near Speeds, a small town near Sellersburg about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by a south bound interurban car on the Indianapolis and Louisville Traction line.

G. H. Anderson, of this city, was on the car at the time the accident occurred and saw the car hit the woman. He says she had just left a house situated near the right-of-way and attempted to cross the track in front of the approaching car. The woman did not see the car, and as she was very deaf, was unable to hear the signals of warning given by the motorman.

The car was not running very fast when the accident happened, as it had just slowed down because a wagon was crossing the track. Just as the wagon cleared the track, the woman stepped in front of the car. The motorman made every effort to stop his car, but was unable to avoid the accident. Mrs. Kirkley died about twenty minutes after the accident occurred.

In bringing the car to a sudden stop a fuse was burned out which caused a delay of about thirty minutes.

Funeral Services.

The funeral services of Mrs. George Smith of Medora, were held at the residence Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. Settles, pastor of the United Brethren church of that place. Burial at the Heighon Hill Cemetery, two miles north of Medora.

Mrs. George Smith died Saturday morning, March 19, 1910 at her home at Medora after a short illness of neuralgia of the heart. Age 73 years. She had been in failing health for the past two years but lived only about twenty minutes after she was stricken Saturday. Her maiden name was Pollock and she was born in Washington county, a few miles south of Medora, but most of her married life was spent at Medora. Besides her husband she leaves a large family of eight or ten grown children, about thirty-five grandchildren and six or eight great grandchildren.

DIED.

Noble—J. L. Gardiner, of Indianapolis, received word Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Fannie L. Noble, whose home was in Brooklyn, New York. The message stated no particulars.

The deceased was a sister of the late Mrs. Ann J. Hough, of Seymour, and had a number of acquaintances in this city.

J. F. NEAL DEAD.

Prominent Merchant at Washington—Had Many Friends Here.

J. T. Neal, one of the foremost merchants of Washington, died at his home in that city Wednesday morning, after an illness of several months of heart trouble. Mr. Neal was a member of the firm of Neal and Eskridge, and was well known in southern Indiana as a successful and progressive business man. He had a large acquaintance throughout the state, and had many friends in this city.

He was born in Lawrence County, Illinois, April 2, 1857. Since 1882 he has been engaged in the mercantile business in Washington. Mr. Neal was an active member of the Presbyterian church. He leaves a wife and three children.

NEW INTERURBAN STATION.

Being Built By I. & L. Traction Company at Crothersville.

The new interurban station and waiting room at Crothersville is in process of construction. The frame work is up and the building will be about 20x50 feet. With the money that is being spent on the new depots just now at Seymour, Crothersville and Scottsburg it is evident that the traction companies are bidding for the patronage of the public. All this will make the service much more satisfactory to the public. Heretofore Crothersville has only had a waiting shed at the stop and not a room where passengers could wait in comfort for the arrival of the car. The entire service of the road which was good at first is continually being improved. The road from Seymour north seems to be paying fairly well on the investment and the outlook is very favorable for the road running south to be on a paying basis later.

LIST OF CANDIDATES

For Places on Republican State Ticket Practically Complete.

The list of candidates who will come before the Republican State Convention on April 5 is about complete. As yet there is no avowed candidate to head the ticket as secretary of state although a number of prominent men have been mentioned for this place. Among those who have been suggested are John Morris, of Ft. Wayne and Dr. W. H. Shaffer, of North Manchester.

While the only candidate who has announced for clerk of the Supreme Court is Edward V. Fitzpatrick, who is candidate for renomination, it is believed that several other men may get into the race. George H. Bachelor of Indianapolis, who served as deputy clerk for eight years under Robert A. Brown, is said to be considering the advisability of making the race. Mr. Bachelor was formerly a resident of North Vernon, where he was engaged in the practice of law. The name of Capt. John R. Henry, of Indianapolis, has also been mentioned in this connection.

Jonce Monahan, of Orleans and Job Freeman, of Linton, are candidates for State Treasurer. Mr. Monahan made the race for the nomination four years ago. W. E. Springer, of Elizabethtown, has also been spoken of prominently for this office, but it is not believed that he will enter the race this year.

John Reed, deputy state auditor is the only candidate for the nomination for state auditor.

William Bosson, of Indianapolis, formerly a member of the Indiana Legislature from Marion county, is one of the candidates for Attorney General.

A. G. Cavins, deputy attorney-general, was in the race for attorney-general, but he withdrew. John W. Brady, of Princeton, has been talked of for this nomination. Mr. Brady has announced his intention of seeking the congressional nomination in the First district, but it is said there is a possibility that he may change his mind and seek the nomination for attorney-general.

The three candidates for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction are, Horace Ellis, of Vincennes, John R. Carr, of Indianapolis, and S. C. Farrell of Shelbyville.

J. L. Peetz has no opposition for renomination for State Statistician.

There are two vacancies on the Supreme Bench, one from the Second and one from the third Supreme Court judicial district. Judge Oscar H. Montgomery of Seymour, is the only candidate from the Second district and will have no opposition. There are three candidates from the third district for the place now held by Judge John V. Hadley, of Danville, who is not a candidate for renomination. The attorneys who will make the race for this place are Judge Frank S. Roby, who is now a member of the Appellate Court, Charles W. Moores, of Indianapolis, and Robert M. Miller of Franklin.

Five candidates for the appellate bench are to be nominated, two from the First district and three from the Second. In the First district, Judges Ward H. Watson and C. C. Hadley have no opposition. In the Second district the judgeships now held by Judges J. M. Rabb and Daniel W. Comstock are to be filled, and both are candidates for renomination. Judge Frank S. Roby's place is also to be filled. The other candidates in this district, making the total of four, are Judge Emmett Braton, of Angola, and H. B. Tuthill, of Michigan City.

W. S. Blatchley, present state geologist, so far as is known will have no opposition for renomination. Mr. Blatchley has held this place for several years.

Destructive Forest Fire.

The burning of a brush pile Monday afternoon by Mrs. William Hayden on the farm of Howard J. Tooley, in Bartholomew Co., started a fire that is still raging and has already destroyed the home and barns of Frank Bishop and done probably $20,000 worth of other damage. The fire has swept over 2,000 acres of land, most of which was timbered, destroying the timber and fencing. One of the farms swept by the fire is owned by Joseph I. Irwin, of Columbus, and president of the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Traction Company.

Residents of the burned district have been fighting the fire day and night since it started, but have been unable to check it as the leaves and other vegetation are dry as tinder. It was with much difficulty that the residence and barns on the farm of Howard J. Tooley were saved. Mrs. Hayden, wife of a tenant on the Tooley farm, sought to burn a pile of brush near her home, when the flames leaped across a strip of plowed ground and into some grass and leaves and was at once beyond control.

German Lutheran Conference

Eighty or more ministers and teachers of the German Lutheran church are expected at Columbus next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, when the Southern Indiana District Convention will be held there. The conference will be held in two sections, the ministers holding their gathering in the German Lutheran church while the teachers will meet in the school building. The visitors will be entertained by members of the local German Lutheran congregation. The program for the conference has not yet been announced. Next Tuesday night the male choir, the women's choir and the Sunday School choir will give a song recital in the German Lutheran church under the direction of Prof. Theodore Koch. The songs will be divided between English and German and two of the numbers will be Prof. Koch's own compositions.

COURT NEWS

Mutton Creek Ditch Case Will Not Be Settled This Term.

The Mutton Creek ditch case will not be settled this term of court, and the parties interested will be required to wait until the next term of court to know the outcome of the case. The testimony in the case was completed Wednesday evening, and it was decided to postpone the argument, which will take about two days, until the April term of court.

The parties had hoped that the case might be definitely decided this term, but much more time was given to the evidence than was anticipated at the beginning of the trial. The case was fought very hard by both sides and there was much contention over minor questions that arose during the trial. About fifty parties are interested in the outcome of the suit.

The case of the State vs. Garfield Bohall, charged with the murder of his brother, Thornton Bohall, in this city a few months ago, has been continued till the May term of the circuit court.

William Dunn, of this city, was granted a divorce from Ella Dunn.

Other cases which have been decided are:

Oliver Eetwood, et al; partition made and real estate sold.

Columbia Phonograph Co. vs. John Van DeWalle, on account; dismissed.

State vs. Andrew Peters and Fred Kovenor, selling liquor without license; grand jury failed to return indictments and cases dismissed.

Ida C. Owens vs. Walter B. Owens; divorce granted.

Wright Vermilya vs. J. Sierp, et al, to set aside conveyances; real estate reconveyed.

Seba A. Barnes, Geo. Hamilton and Jas C. Bland, vs. Maria S. Sierp, et al, on judgment and to set aside deeds; dismissed.

Trust Companies.

According to a letter prepared by Auditor of State Jno. C. Billheimer to send to the trust companies of the trust companies of the state, such companies must cease becoming sureties on bonds of various classes, such as cost bonds, appeal bonds, attachment bonds and contributor's bonds. Examiners in the employ of the auditor of state have reported numerous such surety bonds issued by trust companies in the state and attention is called to the fact that the law specifically provides that trust companies are not allowed to become sureties under such conditions. The letter demands that all such sureties be canceled at once.

BACK FROM ELBA THEIR WAR CRY

Insurgents and Reformers to Get Together.

BEN LINDSAY AIDS MOVEMENT

Denver Reformer Comes Out as an Ardent Exponent of Nation-Wide Movement Against Privilege Fostered by Coalition Between Gifford Pinchot and the Insurgents in Which Roosevelt Figures in a Larger and More Definite "Back-From-Elba" Movement Than Any Hitherto Suggested.

Denver, Col., March 23.—From every section of the country insurgents and reformers have been called to a meeting which will be held in Washington early in April. The purpose is to launch a nation-wide movement against privilege. A coalition has been formed between Gifford Pinchot and the insurgents and Roosevelt figures in a larger and more definite "back from Elba" movement than any hitherto suggested. The former president has been kept informed of what is in the wind, but awaits more complete information before coming out for a propaganda that necessarily will pit him against Taft.

The Washington conference will lay plans to forestall some moves which are said to be contemplated by Sherman, Aldrich and Cannon and which will not take form until summer. These facts leaked out here as the result of an exchange of communications between Senator LaFollette and Judge Ben B. Lindsay. The judge is expected to take a prominent part in the Washington conference.

One of the objects is control of the greater number of the congressional districts. Judge Lindsay will take part in the Wisconsin campaign for LaFollette in August.

A CALL TO CONFESSION

Pittsburg Grafters Who Do Not "Come Through" Will Be Arraigned.

Pittsburg, March 23.—The grand jury which is taking testimony against grafting councilmen and against those who bribed the city lawmakers, has given out that it would hand down new indictments perhaps tonight. Ten of the councilmen against whom true bills were handed down Monday night are not to be found. It is expected that with the indictments to be announced tonight the list will reach 100—both councilmen and bribe givers.

Nine more councilmen or ex-councilmen came to the bar of justice and pleaded guilty to having accepted bribes. Sentence was suspended in each case. This makes a total of nineteen who have confessed. District Attorney Blakely publicly requested that the court make a date for trials in the cases of those indicted councilmen who are stubborn and will not come to confess, and the court fixed next Monday as the time to begin the trials. He declares those who won't make public confession need expect no mercy.

But there is going to be a fight and a big one. At a caucus of many of the indicted councilmen and many not yet indicted, but who do not hope to escape the dragnet, a great deal of money, almost $100,000, was pledged to make the fight, and at least a score of the older politicians decided to stand pat.

They Voted It Down.

Washington, March 23.—The senate committee on pensions voted adversely on a bill to place former presidents of the United States on the retired list as commander-in-chiefs of the army and navy of the United States at a salary of $10,000 per annum. At the same time the committee reported favorably bills providing pensions of $5,000 annually to the widows of two former presidents, Mrs. Mary L. Harrison and Mrs. Frances F. Cleveland.

To Name the New Members.

Washington, March 23.—At a Republican caucus to be held tonight the majority members of the new committee on rules will be selected. The Democrats will caucus tomorrow night to place in nomination the minority members of the committee.

Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with suppression and oftentimes a cloudy voiding. A prominent national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. A. J. Pellens will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet that explains in simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all druggists, 75c.

THE VALUE OF GOOD PLUMBING

Good plumbing is one of the most important features of the home and should receive your careful attention at all times.

When you consider that the health of the entire household is governed absolutely by domestic sanitary conditions, you can readily see the extreme necessity of equipping your home with only the best and most sanitary fixtures to be had.

Many people pay out yearly for doctor bills, for sickness caused by deadly sewer gases due to poor and imperfect plumbing, more than the difference between the cost of the cheapest and the best work.

This fact alone should be sufficient to warrant your close attention. If your plumbing equipment is not thoroughly modern, let us quote you a price on installing new fixtures and correcting the defective piping, etc. We sell and install "Standard" plumbing fixtures, because of their thorough sanitary efficiency, lasting service and because they are absolutely guaranteed. Illustrated Literature always on hand.

MORTGAGE BURNED.

Methodist Church at Brownstown Now
Without Indebtedness.

The Methodist Church at Brownstown is now free from debt, the mortgage and note having been paid and burned. The total amount of the church indebtedness was $728. The entire amount has been paid off and $80 left in the treasury. A few weeks ago, Isaac N. Persinger, a prominent member of the church, opened the way to wipe out the church debt by voluntarily agreeing to pay one-half of the mortgage upon the church and parsonage, which was $717, if the church would raise the other half, or $358.50. It was too good an opportunity to be lost, and Rev. Schneider went to work at once to raise the other half. So well did he succeed that not only was a sufficient amount raised to pay the mortgage and other incidental expenses, but $80 over.

At the same meeting the pastor received a pleasant surprise by being presented with an elegant gold watch. The watch was presented in behalf of the church by a few appropriate remarks, to which Rev. Schneider responded very effectively. Mrs. Schneider was also presented a very pretty baby cab.

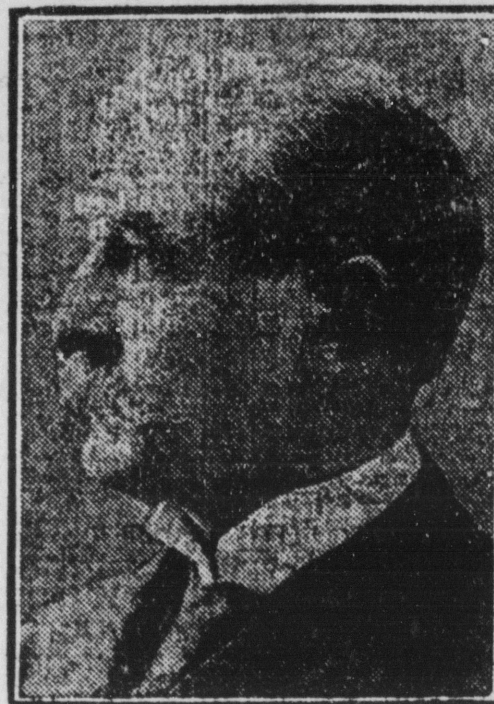

The principal address of the evening was made by Dr. M. B. Hyde, of Indianapolis, district superintendent of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Carl Moritz and daughter have returned home after a visit of several weeks with her relatives at Cincinnati. They will move to Columbus next week for future residence, where it will be more convenient for them. Mr. Moritz went to Jeffersonville at first, but was soon transferred to Columbus and has since been working out from there.

SHOT INTO A CROWD AT A VILLAGE STORE

Four Men Desperately Wounded at Castleton.

Indianapolis, March 24.—The people of the village of Castleton, eight miles from this city, are in a state of excitement over the shooting of four citizens by Perry Roberts, who was later surrounded in his home by citizens.

While a number of citizens were in Samuel Beaver's store last night, Roberts appeared with a double-barreled shotgun and fired, desperately wounding James Wheatly, Charles McChesney, Robert E. Magehe and John Martin. Wheatly and Martin are believed to be fatally wounded.

Roberts ran to his home, barred himself in and threatened to kill anyone who attempted to enter. The sheriff was notified and at once started from here with a number of deputies.

Before the sheriff reached Castleton Roberts had killed himself. Roberts was twenty-two years of age. He had been drinking and his act of shooting into the crowd in the store was without provocation.

WANT TEN HOURS REST.

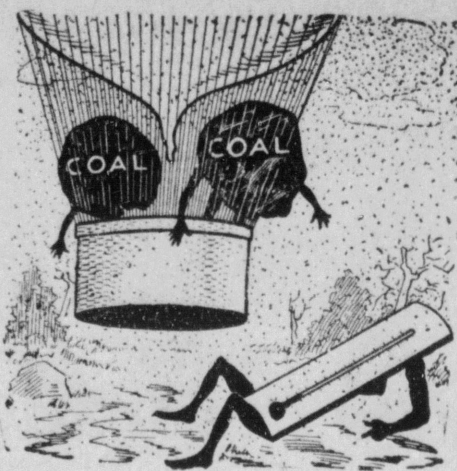

Trainmen Appeal to Attorney-General
To Enforce Law.

Fred L. Frick, legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has taken up with Attorney General Bingham the matter of enforcing the law requiring railroads of Indiana to allow trainmen at least ten hours rest after every sixteen hours of work. Several railroads throughout the state, Mr. Frick says, have permitted trainmen to operate trains for more than the allotted sixteen consecutive hours and it is the desire to correct the alleged violation.

Numerous complaints have been sent to the railroad commission of Indiana, which referred them to Attorney General Bingham.

Just what method of procedure will the law be not known. The law was passed by the Indiana legislature as something of a precautionary measure to lessen the possibility of accidents resulting from overwork of trainmen. Mr. Frick and others of the trainmen's been required to work longer hours than the law provides and an effort is to be made to correct it.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McElroy, of Greensburg, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Harvey McCord, on St. Louis Avenue. They will remain over Sunday. Mr. McElroy was a member of Company B, 13th regiment Indiana Infantry. In the battle of Petersburg, Virginia, on July 30, 1864, he lost his left arm.

Medicines Made From Roots and Herbs

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they depended upon medicines made from the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that standard remedy which is made from roots and herbs for woman's ills, had its origin in this way. For thirty years it has been redeeming its promises written on the label of every bottle by curing thousands of women of feminine ills. It's a good honest medicine.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Charge Formally Placed Against a Young Ohio Girl.

Massillon, O., March 23.—Catherine Manz was rearraigned publicly in the police court on the charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of her sister Elizabeth. She pleaded not guilty and at the direction of her attorney, Robert H. Day, waived a preliminary examination. She was bound over to the grand jury and taken to the county jail at Canton to await the action of the grand jury.

Authorities says the girl, under the laws of Ohio, cannot be tried for murder, as she is only sixteen. The minimum age at which a child can be convicted is seventeen in this state.

HE SAYS THERE'S AN UNDERTAKER'S TRUSTIndianapolis Man Takes His Case Into Court.

Indianapolis, March 23.—On the ground that Fred D. Bryan and Arthur J. Hamrick, lawyers, refused to furnish him carriages because he was not a member of the Indianapolis Undertakers' association, or "trust," as the plaintiff terms it, John C. Wilson, an undertaker, is suing them for $1,000 damages. The case is before a jury in superior court.

Mr. Wilson alleges that on Oct. 9, 1908, he went to the lively stable of the defendants and made a contract with the foreman of the stable for two carriages and a pall-bearers' coach, to be used next day for a funeral. Mr. Wilson testified that he told the foreman that he did not belong to the undertakers' organization, and that the foreman replied that he would furnish the carriages if the undertaker had the money. Thereupon Mr. Wilson said he paid the man $14. However, he alleges that on the next day, about an hour before the funeral, he was informed by the defendants that they could not furnish him with the carriages and the pall-bearers' coach for the reason that he was not a member of the undertakers' association, and they tendered him the money back. He refused to take the money, demanding that they perform the contract, and on the ground that they failed to carry out the contract he brought suit for damages.

MOVEMENT OF THE LAYMEN ADVANCES

Indianapolis Will Be the Storm
Center of Missionary Enthusiasm--Great Convention of Indiana Laymen, April 12.

The national campaign of the Laymen's Missionary Movement is sweeping through the large cities of the country and will reach Indianapolis on April 12. This will be the sixty-seventh convention in the continent-wide and world-embracing movement. Here, on the evening of April 12, a great men's dinner will be held in Tomlinson Hall. The local committee having charge of the arrangements, seized with the purposeful momentum of the movement, is preparing to banquet at least 2,000 men. Their expectation is based upon the widespread interest in this feature of the convention shown in other cities. In every instance the capacity of the largest dining halls of the cities entertaining the conventions has been taxed beyond their limit. In Syracuse, a city of only 140,000 people, so large a number assembled from the tributary towns that the capacity of the great gymnasium at the university was taxed beyond provision, and 1,400 men sat down to the opening dinner. At St. Louis, 1,628; at Dayton, Ohio, 1,500; at Cincinnati, the Business Men's Club was crowded to the utmost, and an overflow banquet was arranged in a department store. At the Hotel Astor, New York, on the coldest and stormiest night in many years, 1,820 men participated in the missionary dinner. Kansas City, Mo., only last week broke the record with an actual attendance at the opening dinner of 1,840 men from the city and adjoining territory in Missouri and Kansas. Warned by these experiences, the Indianapolis committee is making generous provision for the greatest men's dinner of any kind ever held in the history of the city.

The occasion of this deep interest is the irresistible appeal presented by the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The problem presented centers in the supreme inquiry: "Is the church equal to the task of turning the nations to Christ?"

Is world evangelization in this generation possible?

If it is, will the Christian men now living see to it that every non-Christian man now living shall have a chance to know of Jesus Christ, and if he so wills shall enter this great brotherhood of the Eternal Life?

This means a strong and united uprising of men for world conquest in the name of Jesus Christ.

The movement utilizes the modern, scientific business method of promoting the Christian enterprise of world conquest. It provides an adequate base of supplies. It says emphatically: "This missionary task is a man's job—a big one. Get under it, men—it's yours!"

The response to the challenge of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in every city of the half hundred in which conventions have been held has been so splendidly generous that this year's undertakings will justify the expectation of a general extended advance in the missionary operations of the churches.

The outstanding features of the movement are: The commission; the commissioners; the convention campaign; the committee; the canvass, and the contribution. There is immediacy, urgency and vast propulsive power in the interpretation of the commission of Christ, which involves the evangelization of the world within the generation.

The commissioners are the men who to the number of seventy-five or more, at the request of the movement, have during the last three years personally investigated missionary conditions in all parts of the world. Their enthusiastic endorsement of foreign missions to the churches of America has projected two great national campaigns of missionary education. That in Canada aroused the men of the Dominion to assemble in a parliament on missions to the number of 4,000 from all parts of the Dominion, who have undertaken as Canada's share of world evangelization 40,000,000 of non-Christian people, and a contribution of $4,500,000 to conduct the missionary enterprises of their churches. This will average $5 a member.

The campaign in the United States will culminate in a national congress to be held in Chicago May 3 to 6 of this year. The program of each convention will comprise a platform of the ablest speakers on missionary subjects available. No man can afford to miss the inspiring contact with such great world leaders as J. Campbell White, the leader of the movement; George Sherwood Eddy, national secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association for all India, ripened by an experience of over fifteen years in active missionary service; Dr. Homer C. Stuntz, whose intimate association with President Taft, when governor of the Philippines is appreciatively referred to by the president in his missionary addresses; of Bishop Lewis, the Iowa College president, who is now a Methodist bishop in China, and a score of other missionary experts and world statesmen.

A remarkably rich and strong platform will be presented. The appeal of this convention to business men is irresistibly strong. Each church in the city of Indianapolis will be represented in the convention by a committee of men, who will come up to study the methods of the convention and return to report to their churches and incorporate them into the missionary activities of their churches. These committees will range all the way from a few individuals to 150, which is the number planned by one church in the city.

States Are Awakening to the World-Wide Movement--Fea-

This committee, subsequent to the convention or immediately after, will conduct a canvass of the entire membership of the church in the interest of the world-wide missions of the church. Every member will be informed and then given an opportunity to participate in the missionary activity of the church. This opportunity will find expression through a contribution upon a weekly basis from every member of the church to the support of its world-wide missions. The application of the methods of the movement in the churches is revolutionizing their life, and led last year to an increase of $1,250,000 or double that of the year previous in the foreign mission contribution of the church, and promises this year to be double that of last.

The movement does not seek to form a new organization in the church. It functions into the church through a men's missionary committee appointed temporarily or permanently for the purpose. No collections of any kind will be taken at the convention. The expenses of the state-wide campaign of missionary education, and the convention meetings will be met by a registration fee of $1. Two tickets are being provided. One for $2, which admits to the dinner and all the privileges of the convention, such as a reserved seat at all the sessions and a voice and vote in the convention proceedings. Only holders of these tickets will be admitted to the dinner. The other ticket will cost $1, and will admit to all the privileges of the convention but the dinner. The holders of these tickets will be admitted to the gallery during the dinner. These tickets can be obtained at the convention headquarters and of the committee for this purpose in each church. This fee is not a contribution to foreign missions, but pays the expenses of an election campaign that will culminate in the convention at Indianapolis when the delegates thereto will vote Jesus Christ as King of the World in their thought and purpose. This is precedent to the realization of the prayer of all Christians that "His Kingdom may come and His will be done on earth as it is in Heaven."

The managing committee of the Indianapolis convention is expecting to place former Vice President Fairbanks on the list of speakers. He will by that time have returned from an eighteen-months' tour of the world, during which he gave much attention to the missionary work in the four corners of the earth. Arrangements are also being made to have Mrs. Fairbanks who was with Mr. Fairbanks on the tour, speak at the meeting of women which will be held at Central Avenue M. E. Church on April 14.

Music will have a conspicuous place in all the convention programs. C. M. Keeler, a member of the famous Y. M. C. A. quartet, which has been singing at the international association conventions for twenty-five years, will lead the convention singing, supported by the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A. orchestra, which has for years been playing at the famous "Big Meeting" for men in that city. A. H. Godard, secretary of the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A., will lead the singing at the dinner with which the convention will open.

Seats in the gallery will be free to the members of brotherhoods, men's Bible classes and the women of the churches, excepting on the night of the dinner, when only ticket holders will be admitted to the hall.

The convention is managed by a co-operating committee of prominent Christian laymen from each of the denominations in the city. A deputation committee will send representatives to outlying towns to obtain full delegations from all parts of the state. Already Richmond, Terre Haute and other places are preparing to be largely represented at the convention. It is important to register early. Address all communications to H. F. LaFlamme, Young Men's Christian Association, Indianapolis.

To Educate Laymen.

About fifty laymen from the Presbyterian churches of Indianapolis met with the general committee at the Y. M. C. A. the other night, when H. F. LaFlamme, executive secretary of the committee, explained to the laymen what was expected of them in their local churches. Subcommittees of from three to five men each have been organized in practically all of the Protestant churches of Indianapolis, and the formation of similar committees is spreading over the state. Mr. LaFlamme said that general committees have been formed in Richmond, South Bend, Terre Haute, Evansville, Muncie and some other cities, which will promote the movement there to the end of having delegations of laymen attend the Indianapolis convention, to be held April 12 to 14.

We want that many regular subscribers to our paper. In 1909 we had a daily circulation of 90,246, therefore, we need only 9,754 new readers to reach the mark.

THE INDIANAPOLIS NEWS

The circulation of The Indianapolis News is unique in two particulars. The paper is delivered directly into the homes of more than 94 per cent. of its subscribers; and the circulation, per capita of the population of the city in which it is printed is greater than that of any other paper in the country.

The Indianapolis News, established in 1869, was the first high class two-cent evening paper in the west. It now publishes six regular editions, of from sixteen to twenty-eight pages daily; has the Associated Press and United Press services; 700 special correspondents, covering the news of the state and country; a modern art equipment, and a large and capable editorial staff. Its mechanical equipment, complete in every way, includes twenty-two linotype machines, two sextuples and two double-deck quintuple color presses, with a total output of 120,000 twelve page papers per hour.

THERE'S A REASON!

In twelve years The News doubled its circulation; there must be a reason for it, and that reason is given in a few words:

It's the leading newspaper in Indiana.
It's the biggest and best.
It's independent.
It's clean and instructive.

INSURGENTS TAKING HOPE

Recent Events Have Done Much to Brace Them Up.

THAT INDIANAPOLIS INCIDENT

While Senator Beveridge Declined to Say That Seventh District's Failure to Indorse Administration Foreshadowed Action of Coming State Convention, He Declared He Would Stake His Political Life on the Convention's Indorsement of His Attitude Toward the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Law—Senate Insurgents Getting Busy.

Washington, March 24.—The next step taken by the insurgent senators will be a re-opening of the tariff debate in the senate. This step more than any other will aggravate the serious situation now confronting the Republican leaders in regard to next fall's election. It will add new life to an issue that already is giving administration forces a good deal of concern.

Ever since President Taft in his New York speech of Feb. 12, reiterated his Winona defense of the new tariff law, declaring it to be the best act of its kind ever placed on the statutes, the more radical of the Republican senators have been planning for an opportunity to reply to the president. Mr. Taft's Providence speech and the result of the special congressional election in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, have given the insurgents additional inspiration on this subject and Senators LaFollette and Cummins have confirmed the report that the senate will not be permitted to adjourn until the insurgents' views on the tariff have been thoroughly aired in the Congressional Record.

Senator LaFollette and Dooliver have been selected to train the verbal artillery on the Payne-Aldrich law, and they propose to do their best to shoot it full of holes. At the same time the defenders of the law, notably President Taft himself, will not be spared and the senate, before it is over, may be the scene of a good deal of unpleasantness. All of the radical insurgents may be drawn into the discussion before it is over, but LaFollette and Dooliver will be the leaders, and they are now preparing their arguments. The debate in the senate will be made possible by the introduction of a resolution proposing an amendment providing for the creation of a tariff commission.

The Democratic landslide in the Massachusetts Fourteenth district has greatly encouraged the insurgents on both the senate and house side. They insist that the tariff was the real issue on which Eugene N. Foss changed some 20,000 votes in this Republican stronghold. They make no effort to conceal their satisfaction over the result, and don't hesitate to say it forebodes the result of the congressional elections in November.

Attention was called by the insurgents also to the fact that the convention at Indianapolis which nominated the Republican candidate for congress from the Seventh Indiana district failed to adopt resolutions indorsing the Taft administration or approving the tariff. In the opinion of the insurgents this was another straw pointing the way that the political winds are blowing.

When Senator Beveridge was asked if the action of the Seventh Indiana district convention was an indication that the state convention would adopt a similar attitude he declined to express an opinion. He made it clear, however, that he is staking his political life on the approval by the Indiana G. O. P. of his course in opposing the Payne-Aldrich bill.

Just how soon the tariff discussion will be taken up by the insurgents depends upon the time required on the administration's railroad bill. The insurgents are in no hurry to precipitate the issue, and they do not want to have two fights on their hands at the same time.

ROOSEVELT'S TRAVELS

Warm Reception Awaited the Colonel
When He Reached Cairo Today.

Cairo, March 24.—Colonel Roosevelt and his party reached here this afternoon and the khedive at once received him in special audience. Shortly after he was received by the khedive at the palace, his majesty returned the visit at the American agency.

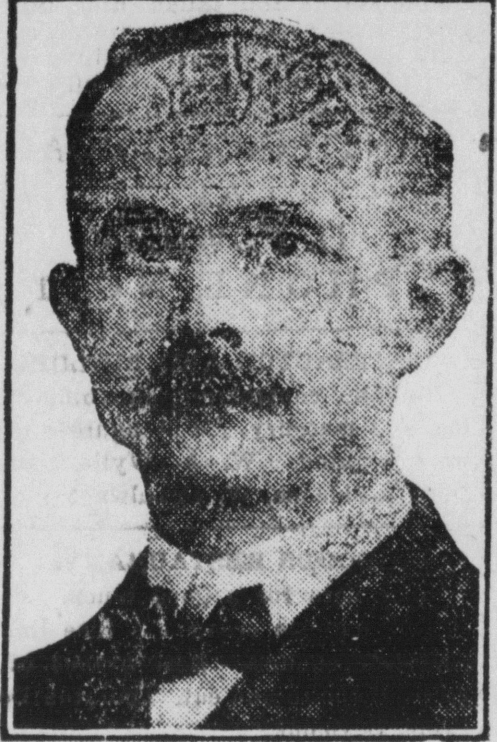

The khediviah received Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt and Mrs. Straus, wife of the American minister at Constantinople, who with her husband came here Monday especially to meet Colonel Roosevelt.

The keenest interest is being manifested in the ex-president's visit to Cairo, where a splendid reception was accorded him.

Colonel Roosevelt seems to fear from the news reaching him that the impression is growing that he is traveling in a sort of official capacity as a representative of the United States. He wants the public everywhere in Europe to recognize that he is traveling entirely as a private citizen.

The Suspension Bridge.

There is no doubt that the first idea of a suspension bridge was suggested to primitive man by the interlacing of tree branches and parasitical plants across rivers. Ovation Given Ex-Vice President

Distinguished Hoosier Declares
Disputes Between Nations
Will Be Settled by Arbitration.

At the first public appearance in his native land since the famous Around-the-World Tour, Hon. Chas. W. Fairbanks received an ovation at the banquet of the Peace League Tuesday night in New York City. Representatives of all nations were present. Ex-Vice-President Fairbanks spoke in part as follows:

Mighty changes have occurred during comparatively recent years. The map of the world has been altered; new states have been formed and old ones have disappeared; a revolution has occurred in the instruments of trade and commerce and the people of all lands have been brought into more intimate relations with each other. There is abroad a wide-spread quickening influence; it is manifest everywhere. Progress is the order of the day in every avenue of human activity.

There are a few minor wars and predictions here and there that larger ones may come sooner or later. Nations are busy laying keels of great battleships, many hundreds of millions of dollars are annually spent by the leading countries in the building and maintenance of navies and fortifications, and in the support of armies far beyond their own reasonable police requirements. The annual budget of many governments are swollen by millions upon millions of dollars to prepare, we are told, for their national defense. There has perhaps been no time in the history of the world when nations—in time of comparative peace—were expending money more lavishly to maintain and drill armies and expand navies, than now, and if the ratio of increase during the past decade is continued during the next, the magnitude of the burden in a few years will become astounding. Yet we fancy that the 20th century is better than any which has preceded it; that knowledge is more widely diffused; that nations are in closer touch with each other and have a better understanding of each other than ever. In short, it would seem that we are better able to guard against misunderstanding than at any time in the past, and therefore that we should be able to greatly minimize the causes and chances of war.

No nation is free from the mad race for strengthening fortifications, building navies and equipping and drilling troops. We are all engaged in increasing our capacity to attack and defend. We indulge in international compliments, in expressions of good will and in praying for a continuance of amicable relations, and yet go forward with our naval and military preparations upon a continuously expanding scale. I criticize no one, for if all that is done is praiseworthy, all are entitled to credit, and if otherwise—all are alike to blame.

We have become familiar with the assertion which seems to find wide acceptance as a verity, that preparation for war among nations is a necessary means of preserving the peace; that army corps and battleships are a sort of evidence of good faith and an assurance of tranquility. When we witness the vast naval and military establishments which are maintained, these questions naturally occur: Does civilization fully civilize? What is the limit of the factor of safety in army and military preparation? What shall be the measure of the annual expenditure of the different nations of the world for their defense? Of course it is readily to be seen, in view of the interlacing of national interests, that where one makes military preparations others feel disposed, out of abundance of caution, to do likewise.

In many of the countries which I have visited in the course of the past year, I have seen something of the preparations made and being made for their national defense. I have seen something of the burdens that are imposed upon people who are little able to bear them. I have often thought what a blessing it would be to countless millions if the burden of preparing for war could be lifted from their treasures, and the public revenues could be used for the benefit of their internal affairs; for the construction of highways, the improvement of the sanitary condition of cities, the support of schools, the construction of hospitals, and in countless other ways in the advancement of the material, intellectual and moral welfare of the great masses of the people.

We have, of course, not fully measured the waste on account of war preparation when we have taken account only of the expenditure for building and maintaining navies and equipping armies. We must bear in mind the fact that many thousands of young men are withdrawn from the fields of productive industry to become consumers of the fruit of the energy of those who remain. The loss of the various countries of the world by this subtraction of some of the best and ablest producers in the ways of peaceful industry, is a loss of incalculable magnitude.

The Hague tribunal is evidence of the fact that some headway has been made towards the peaceful adjustment of international problems, but it is confessedly inadequate. It is a step in the right direction, it is true, and we may well ask when shall the next be taken, if at all.

The United States and Great Britain have set a good example to other nations in settling acute disputes between them. The Alabama claims and the Behring Sea arbitrations and the Alaska boundary commission, settled questions which in earlier years might have led to the gravest issues which can arise between nations. Their agreement to submit the long-standing contention regarding the Northeastern Fisheries to the Hague Tribunal is evidence of the fact that we are finding a way for composing our differences consistently with honor and with the maintenance of relations of good neighborhood between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. These achievements must sooner or later have a profound influence upon other nations and lead more and more to the general acceptance of the principle of international arbitration.

It is gratifying to know that the suggestion made at the recent maritime conference in London to invest The Hague Prize Court with the larger jurisdiction of a court of arbitral justice, was received with so much favor, and that the nations which were parties to the conference are giving it further serious consideration. It is a fact of large significance that these nations, the United States, Great Britain, Germany and France, should thus endeavor to supplement the work of the Hague Conference by giving the principle of the peaceful adjustment of international disputes there enunciated a larger practical effect. All honor to them in their praiseworthy attempt, whether failure or success shall crown their efforts.

While the theme I have suggested is an old one, it has not become academic, for it is one of colossal present importance. A moral responsibility rests upon the foremost nations, and that is to lead the way towards preserving the world's peace so far as it is possible to maintain it through the wisdom and foresight of patriotic men. Christian civilization and the peace of the world demand international arbitration, and a limitation upon armament.

All honor to them in their praiseworthy attempt, whether failure or success shall crown their efforts.

It would seem that if a small fraction of the genius and energy and money devoted to preparation for war were expended in further effort to enlighten the world and to promote effective means of adjusting disputes between nations, that the zone of war would be greatly abridged, if war were not made absolutely impossible. There are, of course, those who believe that the possibility of the prevention of war between nations is an Utopian dream. Past experience has proved, I grant you, that there is too much ground for such belief, but we should not be dissuaded because of such a fact from appealing and appealing again to the enlightened conscience and to the deliberate judgment of the world.

Let the horrors of war and its tremendous cost be kept before the minds of the people everywhere until effect is given to the world-wide desire for the establishment of some means for the settlement of national disputes in some other manner than by the employment of cruel force, and through some instrumentality which shall lift from the backs of the people the mighty burden which preparations for war and which wars impose.

If courts may be relied upon to judge the vast and complicated interests of the people in their individual affairs, may not courts, with equal confidence, be trusted to faithfully consider and determine the interests of the people in their national capacity. In principle, there can be no reason for a court in the one case which does not apply with equal force in the other. The method by which international tribunals should be constituted, and their procedure would naturally differ, but in every essential principle they would be absolutely the same.

There are those who believe that armies and navies are necessary to maintain the national spirit and that without them some sort of degeneracy would occur in the patriotism and virility of the people. If the danger of international conflict is removed the energies of the people will continue to find countless avenues for their exercises and there need be no fear of decadence in their rugged manhood.

President McKinley, as high a type of the patriot as the world has seen, set an example of patriotism which should never be forgotten. There is nothing sublimer anywhere. When the passions of the people had been aroused he could easily have gone with the tide and into war from which the country, under his leadership, would have emerged victorious. Renown would thereby have come to his administration. But with all his power he stood against it. He was the last to yield, but when war became inevitable he was prepared to vindicate the national honor. He had the consciousness that come what might in the lottery of war, he was void of offense, and that neither loss of blood nor the expenditure of public revenues nor the destruction of property, could be charged to his account. We remember well how he was told that his resistance of the demand for war would wreck his party and destroy himself. He turned a deaf ear to such counsel. Those who were not so wise as he misjudged him. A weaker man, a lesser patriot, would have welcomed the opportunity which knocked at his door.

While the theme I have suggested is an old one, it has not become academic, for it is one of colossal present importance. A moral responsibility rests upon the foremost nations, and that is to lead the way towards preserving the world's peace so far as it is possible to maintain it through the wisdom and foresight of patriotic men. DALZELL HEADS NEW COMMITTEE

Insurgents Were Not Given a Place On It.

BOTH SIDES ARE SATISFIED

While the Regulars Dominated the Caucus For the Nomination of Majority Members of the New Committee on Rules, the Insurgents Left the Caucus Satisfied With the Result—Speaker Cannon Was Present, a Silent Spectator, Taking No Part in the Proceedings Which Leaves Him Off the Controlling Committee Which He Had So Long Dominated.

Washington, March 24.—To represent the majority of the house on the new rules committee that was created, by the Norris resolution, passed last week after one of the greatest fights ever waged in the lower branch of congress, six regular Republicans were selected. They were Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Smith of Iowa, Boutell of Illinois, Lawrence of Massachusetts, Fasset of New York and Smith of California. The insurgents have no representation on the committee, but they left the caucus satisfied with the result. "I am content," said Representative Norris of Nebraska, author of the resolution that precipitated the contest over the house rules. The insurgents will abide by the decision of the caucus. The caucus was entirely harmonious. Every motion that carried went through by unanimous consent.

Speaker Cannon was present, but he took no part in the proceedings. He was a silent spectator, making no effort to dictate and evidently realizing to the full the changed order of things in the house.

While the nominees for places on the new rules committee were selected as a result of two ballots, taken with a view of eliminating certain members who were not desired by either side, the slate prepared at a conference of regular and insurgent leaders finally went through just as it was submitted to the caucus by Representative Tawney, who has acted in the last few days as the mediator between the formerly hostile factions. Of the nineteen Republicans suggested for a place on the rules committee six were insurgents.

It was decided by the caucus that the nominees should take rank on the committee in the order of their seniority of service. This means that Dalzell, who has been one of the dominant factors in the house organization for many years, will be named chairman, succeeding to the place from which the speaker was deposed. He will be followed in rank by Smith of Iowa, who also was a member of the old committee. There was little or no debate in the three hours' session. While the insurgents had announced early in the week that they would not make an issue over the personnel of the committee, it was realized that there was at least a possibility of trouble. But it soon became apparent that harmony was in the air, and that these present were determined to finish the business without a row.

"We now have harmony in the Republican party in the house for the first time in two years," said Representative Tawney as he emerged from the caucus. Victor Murdock, the Kansas insurgent, also looked pleased as he left. "It is all right," said he. "The Republican majority is now ready for business." The Democrats will name the minority members of the committee tonight.

SHOT TO KILL.

South Carolinian Slays Two and Is Himself Slain on a Train.

Wilmington, Del., March 24.—When the Royal Blue train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad passed Newark, ten miles south of here, last evening, a passenger who had trouble with the porter, Samuel Williams, shot and killed him. When O. F. Welman, the conductor, remonstrated he was shot and killed. When the train reached here the man had barricaded himself in the car. Police were summoned and a fire company was called.

The murderer fired repeatedly at the crowd, wounding several persons, and was finally forced by a stream of water to the car platform. He was shot three times by the police and then captured. He died in a few minutes. An identification card bearing the name of J. H. Bethea of Dillon, S. C., was found on him.

Washington, March 24.—The wreck of the battleship Maine is to be raised from the bottom of Havana harbor, if the house of representatives has its say. The house has passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for raising the wreck and interring the bodies supposed to be in the hulk.

It also provides that the two tall masts of the ship shall be brought to the United States and erected in the Arlington cemetery.

PINCHOT CARRYING NEWS TO ROOSEVELT

Rumor Causes Washington to Sit Straight Up.

Washington, March 23.—When the report reached the capitol that Gifford Pinchot, who sailed for Europe on Saturday, went abroad in response to a cable dispatch, dated Khartoum, which bore the signature of the returning hunter from Africa, much surprise was expressed.

Ostensibly the former forester and intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt, sailed from New York to visit his sister, who is the wife of the British ambassador at Copenhagen, and who is reported to be ill, but the story that is now floating around the capitol has it that his real mission is to meet the former president in Europe and give him first-hand information on the recent political events in this country.

No one in Washington could be found who had any knowledge of the cable that is said to have been despatched from Khartoum, but it was stated that Pinchot confided to an intimate friend before his departure, that he received word from the former president to meet him in Europe. Scepticism was plainly pictured on the faces of many statesmen who heard the story, but it was accepted at par by Jonathan Bourne and a few others.

The friends of Pinchot believe the story that he has gone abroad to acquaint Mr. Roosevelt with all that has happened in this country in a political way since he entered the juggle. They do not hesitate to assert that the former president will stand by the former forester in his controversy with Secretary Ballinger when acquainted with the facts.

Mr. Pinchot makes no concealment of his belief, according to intimate friends, that Mr. Roosevelt will be the next president of the United States. He has expressed the opinion that the demonstration for the former president will be so irresistible on the part of the people that a declination will be out of the question.

Home Folks Greet the Former Vice President.

A BIG DAY AT INDIANAPOLIS

Upon Their Return From Their Trip

Around the World Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks Were Received by a Committee Representing the Whole City, and the Mayors of Many Indiana Cities—A Program of Formal Exercises Followed in Which a Warm Welcome Home Was Voiced by Distinguished Speakers.

Indianapolis, March 24.—Cordial and enthusiastic was the reception accorded this afternoon to former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks upon their return home from their trip around the world, attesting in a marked way the high regard in which they are held by the home folks.

The former vice president and his wife were met at the station this afternoon by the committee and Governor Marshall and Mayor Shank, accompanied by members of the women's committee to greet Mrs. Fairbanks, a detachment of United States infantry, and a company of the state militia, two bands of music and all the committees taking part in the reception. The procession moved through the downtown streets to the north side of the soldiers' monument, where a stand had been erected from which the addresses of welcome were made and the response by Mr. Fairbanks. The public schools were dismissed for the afternoon and the children were massed in the square north of the postoffice to witness the parade.

At the close of the exercises at the speakers' stand the soldiery disbanded. The guests of honor and the receiving party then went in automobiles to the Fairbanks home in North Meridian street, where the social side of the reception took place. The visiting mayors who came to the city for the event were entertained at the University club, the Columbia club, the Marion club, the Indiana Democratic club, the Board of Trade rooms and the Commercial club. Mayor Shank will entertain the Indiana mayors who came for the homecoming reception at his home in East Fifteenth street at dinner at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

WILL BE NO STRIKE

Peace on the Western Railroads Has Been Guaranteed.

Chicago, March 24.—Peace on the western railroads was assured when the general managers and the representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen reached an amicable settlement of their differences. The demands of the firemen for a wage increase of approximately 12½ per cent will be submitted to arbitration under the Erdman law; any fireman temporarily promoted to be an engineer after having held the position for sixty days, establishes his seniority for all time and must not be reduced irrespective of which organization he is a member.

The question of representation for engineers who are members of the firemen's brotherhood will remain as it now stands. The railroads agree not to make any more exclusive agreements with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and on roads where the firemen's committees are now permitted to represent the engineers they shall continue to do so. The firemen are said to be satisfied with the terms, as they believe it will stop the aggressive tactics of the engineers' organization.

RICH GOLD MINE

New Development in California Is Causing Excitement.

Stockton, Cal., March 24.—Angels, Calaveras county, is excited over the biggest gold strike ever made in that vicinity. About $200,000 has been taken out of Crystal mine in four days. The property is owned by J. V. Coleman of San Francisco. One large piece which weighed about 900 pounds was almost half free gold ore, more than any one of the miners present ever saw before. The pocket has not been worked out, and as the vein is still visible, it is believed the total yield will be over a quarter of a million.
